

Figure S7 Relative fold change of coverage across chromosome XV of the small colony size phenotype strains from each chemostat. The circle and lines on the x-axis indicate the centromere location and the rearrangement boundaries (read pairs with same direction). Dots correspond to the relative coverage, while continuous lines to running medians of 801bp windows.