

Figure S5 Predictive ability for marker subsets in the Arabidopsis data set. The predictive ability was estimated with fivefold cross-validation and 10 replications using RR-BLUP. Average predictive ability as a function of the number of randomly selected markers is visualized as a straight line for each trait. Shaded areas indicate the range of 10 different marker subsets.