

FIGURE S12.—Distribution of Tajima's D for 10,000 independent 250 kb windows ($c_{window}=0.25$ cM) simulated under a growth with ancestral structure model (red) and a growth without ancestral structure model (black). Note that while means of the two distributions are similar, the variance is greater in the growth with ancestral structure case.